

Counselor's Corner

Welcome Back!

Welcome back everyone! I hope you all had an enjoyable summer break. I can tell by the students' enthusiasm that they're happy to be back in school even though many exclaimed that summer break was too short. At school in these first few weeks the teachers are stressing classroom procedures, routines, and expectations. In addition, they are developing and presenting enriching lessons for their students.

During the first week of September I will begin guidance lessons on bullying. As always, I will continue to work on reviewing student records, referral procedures for testing and therapy, and conferencing with parents and teachers on issues of social, emotional, and behavioral concerns of students. It will be a busy time during the next few weeks but I'm here to help you if you need me. Please call or leave a message at the office if you need to get in touch with me. Thank you.

Special points of interest:

- ☺ Bullying guidance lessons to begin the first week of September
- ☺ September 5th — Labor Day
- ☺ September 6th — No school; PD for teachers

Set aside a day or an hour to spend quality time with your children.

....and a few more things

- There will be a fundraiser event to happen in September; more information to come
- School bell rings at 9:05 and instruction begins at 9:20; students are tardy at 9:21; any tardy will affect a student's perfect attendance
- We don't offer before/after care but there are several daycare programs in the area
- No medicines can be given without a prescription and a parent's signature
- Do not have students transport meds in their backpacks to give to the school nurse, they will be confiscated
- Provide extra clothing for your child in case of an bathroom or playground accident
- Update phone numbers if there has been a recent change; this is especially important if a child is sick and needs to be collected from the nurse's office

A person's a person, no matter how small.
